More Hits in 5 Times
at Bat

HOYT SHELLED OUT

Walberg and Rommel Finish
Game—Cards Back to St. Louis

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia—The St. Louis Cardinals took the lead in the 1931 World Series three games to two when "Wild Bill" Hallahan hurled the Red Birds to victory for the second time this series, letting the Athletics down with nine scattered hits and beating them 5 to 1.

While not quite as air-tight as in his opening performance the second game of the series, when he held them to three hits, Hallahan had a wide margin to spare Wednesday, as his teammates battered Hoyt, Walberg and Rommel for a total of 12 safeties.

Martin Wonderful

"Pepper" Martin, St. Louis' miracle man, again dominated both teams at bat, polling three hits including a home run in four times at bat. For Wednesday's game, Martin was shifted to the cleanup position in the Cardinals' lineup, and he was equal to the occasion.

The Cards drew first blood in the opening inning. Adams singled but strained a leg and was replaced on the base paths by Andy High. Frisch scored High with a double. One run, two hits, no errors.

Two more scores followed in the sixth. Frisch hit for a single. "Pepper" Martin cleared the bases with a home run. Two runs, two hits, no errors.

In the eighth, the Red Birds annexed another. Watkins walked, and stole second. Frisch grounded out. "Pepper" Martin got his third hit of the day, a single, and scored Watkins. One run, one hit, no error.

The last Cardinal score was in the ninth. Chick Haley singled. Bottomley forced Haley at second. Wilson singled, advancing Bottomley to third. Gelbert singled, scoring Bottomley. One run, three hits, no errors.

A's Only Score

The Athletics' lone tally came in the seventh. Cochran grounded out. Al Simmons slammed a two-bagger to the outfield. Jimmy Fox shot a single, scoring Simmons. Dukes singled, but died on base. One run, three hits, no errors.

Waite Hoyt was pulled by Connie Mack in the seventh inning. Walberg took up the A's pitching burden in the eighth, and Rommel finished the game.

The teams switch to St. Louis Thursday, and play the sixth game of the series there Friday.

Score by innings:
St. Louis 1 0 0 0 2 1 1-5 12 0

Ocean Fliers Rest After Long Flight

Check for $25,000 Given Intrepid Fliers for Pacific Flight

WENATCHEE, Wash.—(AP)—Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr. heroes of the first nonstop airplane flight across the Pacific ocean, rested Tuesday from the 41-hour strain of their 4877 mile flight from Sanamshiro beach, Japan.

As a memento of their perilous flight, they had a check for $25,000 which was handed to them when they landed Monday morning by a representative of the Tokyo newspaper Asahi—prize money which long had been posted by that periodical for the first nonstop flight between Japan and the United States.

But the $25,000 order didn't provide any immediate spending money, and a collection was taken up to take care of that situation, which netted $500. Wenatchee, the home of Pangborn's mother, Mrs. Opan Pangborn, staged a spontaneous celebration. From its 15,000 persons about 6,000 collected to welcome the fliers. Lieutenant Governor John A. Gellatly praised the flight, and Major W. I. Whidby described it as "greater than Colonel Lindbergh's flight over the Atlantic."

A movement was started to have the $25,000 prize offered four years ago for a non-stop flight between Tokyo and Seattle given to Pangborn and Herndon.

The fliers said in describing their flight it had formed on the wings of their plane, their motor stopped when they were 3000 miles from Japan, and their hopes suffered a severe shock when they thought that they were approaching to mainland but got to fly three hours more before sighting it.

The purpose of this institution to be the discount of banking assets not now eligible for rediscount at the Federal Reserve banks in order to assure our banks, being sound, that they may attain liquidity in case of necessity, and thereby enable them to continue their business without the restriction of credits or the sacrifice of their assets."

Curfew To Clear Streets at 9:30

Small Boys Will Be Asked to Make Themselves
Scare at That Hour

Curfew will blow again for Hope youngsters, beginning Saturday, October 10, clearing the streets of all small boys by 9:30 o'clock each night. Chief of Police Claude Stuart was instructed by the city council at its meeting Tuesday night to put into force an old city ordinance requiring small boys to get off the public streets after 9:30.

Chief Stuart said his men would keep a sharp eye for any wandering youngsters downtown Saturday night. The boys will be given about five minutes after the curfew whistle sounds from the municipal plant, to make themselves scarce. Otherwise the cops will pick them up.

Complaints have been made of mischievous boys running loose on the streets long after most youngsters are safe at home. Enforcement of the ordinance is aimed to break up these small-boy gangs, even though it may be necessary to arrest some of them, the chief said.

Writes Mystery Serial

Hazel Ross Hailey, Author of "Gems of Peril," Covered Crime Assignments on Newspapers

When Hazel Ross Hailey set to work to write her new serial, "Gems of Peril," in which a sensational murder takes place, she was able to draw on experience as a newspaper reporter for much of her material. Writing for newspapers in New York City and in the middle west she learned the routine of police investigations and murder trials. This is probably the reason George Bowen, the newspaper sleuth in her serial, is such a thoroughly credible, life-like young man.

Mrs. Hailey's first newspaper experience began as a reporter on the Des Moines (Ia.) News, on which she covered every type of assignment. Later she won by-line honors on the Des Moines Tribune and served as assistant city editor of the same newspaper. Leaving the west for New York, she joined the staff of the United Feature Syndicate. This was followed by work on the New York Sunday American and a period of free lance in which she contributed to the New York World and other newspapers and magazines.

"Gems of Peril" is Mrs. Hailey's first serial. It is an exciting story of mystery, adventure and romance. The author's newspaper experience provides a rich background for some of the most dramatic developments in the story. "Gems of Peril" begins one week from today in the Hope Star.

Bruening Resigns To Head Coalition Party in Germany

German Premier Follows
MacDonald's Action
in England

MOVE IS APPROVED

President von Hindenburg
Authorizes Premier's
Action Wednesday

BERLIN, Germany.—(AP)—President von Hindenburg accepted the resignation of the Bruening cabinet Wednesday and immediately authorized Chancellor Bruening to form a new ministry.

The proposed new ministry of the Bruening would consolidate the government's position in the Reichstag. The president commissioned Herr Bruening to draw up a non-partisan cabinet whose members would be named strictly on a personal basis and without regard to party affiliations.

England First
Germany is the second European power to adopt a nationalist party administration under constitutional government this year.

Only a few weeks ago England forced part of the Labor party, with the Conservatives and Liberals to form a nationalist government opposing radical elements of the Labor party.

Same Premier Remains
As in Germany, also in England, the current premier, Ramsey MacDonald continued to head the new government, although deserted by the majority of his Labor following.

An attempt to balance the national budget caused the realignment of political forces in England; and the same crisis, much intensified, brought about the shakeup in Germany, where constitutional law and police order are continually menaced by the unemployment situation and the threat of direct action by radicals.

WISHES TEXAS LAW

Cotton Acreage Would Be Reduced to 30 Per Cent
for Two Years

BULLETIN
JACKSON, Miss.—(AP)—The Mississippi House of Representatives passed a cotton acreage reduction bill Wednesday similar to the Texas measure. The Mississippi bill had already passed the senate and now awaits only the signature of Governor Bilbo.

Cotton and Audit
LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Appealing for favorable consideration of legislation to limit cotton acreage and broaden the powers of the State Highway Audit Commission, Governor Parnell sent his message to the special session of the Arkansas legislature Wednesday. The message unexpectedly included in the matter the question of financial relief for the public schools.

The governor promised to extend the session if a majority of the General Assembly would agree on a relief measure.

Governor Parnell urged the enactment of a cotton acreage reduction bill similar to that adopted by Texas to limit the planting of cotton during the next two years to 30 per cent of the cultivated area. This measure, he said, would be a relief to other cotton-producing states.

Wants Taxation Amended

The governor said the tax laws were entitled to a thorough audit, and the State Highway Department would welcome it.

Calling attention to the seriousness of the public school situation, Mr. Parnell said he would not recommend a measure except to lay on road or personal property tax, or one that would affect the morals of our state.

World Parley On Cotton Suggested

Alabama Congressman in Meeting With Hoover
on Project

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The calling of an international conference on the over-production of cotton was suggested Tuesday to President Hoover by Representative McDuffie of Alabama.

In discussing low priced cotton with Mr. Hoover at the White House, the Alabama democrat also noted American cotton showed a decline in recent years in exports due to foreign competition.

McDuffie, his party whip in the last house, submitted to the president a letter containing data on the cotton production and consumption. "While recognizing the problems involved in the enforcement of an international agreement to curtail the acreage to be planted in cotton for the next cotton year, much good might be derived from a conference of all the cotton producing nations," the letter said.

"Indeed, the problem of new uses for cotton, while being studied by a bureau of our government, should be given consideration in such a conference, as well as the question of marketing and the improvement of grades."

"An international discussion of the over-production of cotton could certainly work no injury to the industry, and there is much probability it would impress cotton producers everywhere of the absolute necessity of curtailing acreage."

McDuffie said that of the world production of cotton in 1930-31 totalling 26,400,000 bales, the world consumption was 22,483,000, of which 48.5 per cent was American cotton. He said 51.7 per cent of the world consumption in 1929-1930 was American cotton showing a decline in the use of domestic product. The total consumption of American cotton in 1930-31 was 10,907,000 bales as against 13,000,000 in the previous cotton year, he explained.

Milling Revived On Record Scale

W. W. Duckett, of Southern Grain & Produce Co., Industry Return Here

The bumper corn crop of 1931, together with the "live-at-home" campaign being undertaken throughout the national regions this year, has revived the revival of the local milling business on a big scale, according to W. W. Duckett, proprietor of Southern Grain & Produce Co.

One has to turn back the pages of local history for nearly 20 years to find a season in which so much corn and other cereal grain has been brought to the local mill to be ground into flour or livestock feeds for the farmers, says Mr. Duckett.

He estimates the milling business this year to be 10 times as great as the average season since the World War.

Mr. Duckett has been tending the mill of Hemphill county farmers for many years. It was 26 years ago that he established Southern Grain & Produce Co. on South Louisiana street, with its elevator on the Louisiana & Arkansas Railway. He has maintained the same location for a quarter of a century. For many years Mr. Duckett also operated a wholesale grocery uptown, but maintained his milling interests in the meantime.

He is a native of Hemphill county, and has seen all the changes of a quarter of a century occur in local agriculture. In the days before the World War there was a more diversified style of farming here. The grinding of home-produced corn and wheat was a sizable business. Mr. Duckett maintained for many years a big corn-sheller, whose capacity was so great that he regularly solicited grain from Foreman and Ashdown to keep it operating.

The big power sheller long ago was disposed of. With the rise in cotton prices during the war all available land was planted to cotton, and the growing of grains ceased to be a big-time enterprise.

There has been a revival in grain production, somewhat, with the decline of cotton prices since the war, and this year with a remarkable summer season which produced the largest and best corn crop in the modern history of the county. Mr. Duckett says that this year's Hemphill county corn is the most fully developed and of the best quality he has ever seen.

Local farmers are converting thousands of bushels into cornmeal and ground meal and cornstarch for livestock feed. They bring the grain to Southern Grain & Produce Co., where the milling is paid for either in cash or grain, or the raw grain may be exchanged for flour.

Mr. Duckett says the farmers are bringing in a considerable amount of wheat, to be ground up into whole-wheat flour. Some of the whole-wheat flour in his bins looks to be the equal of the product of the oldest and largest flour mills in America.

Southern Grain & Produce also grinds cottonseed, and its various mill machines carry the cereal grains in to all kinds of combinations of bran and special-livestock feeds.

Mr. Duckett's principal machine is a hammer-mill for grinding cornmeal and cornstarch.

Another big machine is the burr-mill for grinding corn. A third machine is the shop mill and screener, with a capacity of 125 sacks of 100 pounds each per hour. This mill mixes up poultry feeds.

The entire mill is powered with a 15-horsepower motor driven from the municipal electric system.

In the warehouse alongside the mill, Southern Grain & Produce Co. handles heavy machinery, fertilizer, and seed. It is a local distributor for Swift & Co. of Chicago.

Mr. Duckett also handles flour from the nationally-known Eisenmayr Mills, and Pillsbury's Flour, another nationally-advertised brand.

He also sells the Purina poultry-feed lines, and his own makes of poultry feed, Ready Ration Mash and a scratch-grain "Hope Special."

South Preserves Food For Winter

Office Workers, Unemployed, Greatest Problem in Southland

By W. J. DAVIS

ATLANTA, (AP)—Dixie's biggest unemployment problem this winter will be the "white collar" worker.

Professional men and those accustomed to clerical or similar work—who pride on being able to do their own thing—are the ones who will be hardest hit.

This is particularly true of the "white collar" workers in the South. There is little work for them in the rural population. Live-at-home movements in practically every state have resulted in full crops of foodstuffs that have been canned, preserved and stored for winter use.

Atlanta Prepared
Atlanta faces the task of providing work for between 9,000 and 10,000 heads of families or raising funds to feed them.

Frank Miller, director of the Atlanta community chest, said the hardest task is providing for the white collar man, whose children must be kept in school and for whom it is difficult to obtain regular employment.

All relief agencies are co-operating. A plan, expected to bring good results is that of the "Penny Club," which requires members to contribute one cent each meal for five months to aid the idle.

Food Preserved in Louisiana
New Orleans and Shreveport probably are the only Louisiana cities where relief work will be necessary. Louisiana farmers have stocked their cellars with food and fruit.

Charles C. Gilbert, chairman of Gov. Henry Horton's Tennessee committee on unemployment, said Tennessee will have 25 jobless this winter. Gilbert is preparing a program for 152 local committees, located in every county of the state. These committees will sponsor "clean-up, fix-up and paint-up" campaigns and seek to reduce the number of idle rather than act as a relief agency.

Louisville, Ky., plans to appropriate $250,000 to care for its jobless this winter. The county is expected to appropriate an additional $50,000.

The city also plans to create work in the public institutions and place as many men as possible on the new federal buildings and four school buildings to be erected. A three-day week system will be used.

Unemployment conditions in other Kentucky cities are not considered acute.

Mississippi, with no large cities, and more than 50 per cent negro population, has a "live-at-home" program conducted by the agricultural extension service.

Florida and North Carolina are planning state-wide meetings to survey the situation and arrange relief where needed. North Carolina, with its large rural population and live-at-home program among the farmers, faces the winter with full cellars, barns and smokehouses.

Arkansas, in some sections of which there was acute distress last winter, expects little trouble this year because of abundant crops and widespread "canning" and preservation of food. Alabama, too, is well prepared.

Relief Army 'Digs In' for Winter Siege

Expect the Most Intensive Drive Since World War Days

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A new plan which utilizes machinery of many years standing is being used by the President's Organization on Unemployment Relief in the most concerted move to meet a national emergency since the World War.

A national organization has been set up, but its function is merely to coordinate and help set in motion the machinery of local organizations in more than 4,500 towns and cities throughout the country, 370 of which are of more than 25,000 population.

Heretofore such movements have been operated on a national basis, with national funds and national disbursements, but this winter every effort for relief of the distress which is expected as the result of unemployment will be entirely local. The slogan will be "Local funds for local relief."

5,600,000 Idle Now

Last January the government estimated the number of jobless at 6,056,000. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has predicted that 7,000,000 will be idle the coming winter. In a recent statement, however, he said that the usual fall gain in employment which he expected when he made that prediction has not occurred this year.

Green estimated that on September 25 there were 5,600,000 persons idle in the United States. He said prospects for the winter are even more serious. Other indications place the winter's jobless at between 4,000,000 and 8,000,000.

The work of caring for this army of unemployment has been started on the new plan and early returns indicate successful operation despite lack of precedent.

The task of the national committee which is headed by Walter S. Gifford as set forth by him is "to coordinate and strengthen the work of providing public and private relief funds of administering those funds and of increasing and distributing employment."

Local campaigns to raise funds, the most intensive since the Liberty Loan days of the World War, will be waged throughout the nation from October 19 to November 25.

They will not be campaigns for a national fund, but the organization, Gifford says, will give maximum assistance by mobilizing all national agencies to stimulate interest in local efforts.

The Association of Community Chests and Councils has mobilized its forces to stimulate activities and will draw upon the president's organization for help and reinforcement when needed.

Red Cross May Aid
Local Red Cross chapters have been instructed by John Barton Payne, national chairman, to use their own funds for relief of the jobless if distress cannot be cared for by other agencies.

Home Feeding Help To German Idle

Unemployment Could Be Relieved by Home Concerns

BERLIN, (AP)—Germany's unemployment problem is the inspiration for an eating campaign.

Proponents of the plan say that many of the 4,250,000 idle workers can be given jobs if their fellow citizens will eat German food, instead of the millions of dollars' worth of foreign products imported annually.

They point out that imports of food and manufactured articles which could be produced in Germany totaled last year, $201,623,000.

Most damaging in the eyes of these propagandists is the necessity for importing dairy products. Foreign butter, eggs, cheese and milk accounted for $177,554,000 of the 1930 bill.

They add that importation of other far products, fruit, vegetables and meat reached almost as high a figure being valued at $175,459,000. This brings the amount chargeable to foodstuffs to about 60 per cent of the country's whole import bill, all of which food might be raised here.

It is argued that by retaining this money at home and by employing a rotating system on farm jobs, German agriculture could be revived in one crop season.

Imports of timber and machinery, no better than are available within Germany's borders, are set at $100,000,000 more.

Besides there is the angle that behind Germany's tariff wall these same products would have an enhanced value of from 10 to 20 per cent, making the real loss to German agriculture and industry close to $750,000,000.

Watwood Is Not Shy at Play Despite Injury

CHICAGO, (AP)—A skull fractured, suffered when he was "beaten" by Pat Malone of the Cubs, during the 190 Chicago city series, has not made Johnny Watwood, White Sox outfielder, plate shy.

Watwood was in a hospital a month after being struck by one of Malone's fast ones a year ago, but battled 281 for the American league season and Monday had an average of .301, for five games of the current city title series. He combed Malone for a double and two singles Saturday and Sunday got three singles.

2,300,000 Bushels of Rice Pledged

Committee Reports Holding Movement Continuing to Gain Force

STUTTGART—The largest holding movement in the history of the Arkansas rice industry Monday appeared to be gaining force as growers' agreements coming into committee headquarters here brought to about 2,300,000 the total number of bushels of rice pledged to be held from the market until higher prices are paid. Paul W. Daniels, manager of the Arkansas branch of the American Rice Growers Co-operative Association, said Monday night that a government estimate placed the Arkansas rice yield at 7,500,000 bushels, but that reports from thrasher men in different sections of the state indicate the yield will be much less.

The movement of the crop, except to the mills of the Arkansas Rice Growers Co-operative Association, where advances of 60 per cent on a basis of 50 cents per bushel for Proflite are being made has about stopped. No minimum price has been set by those taking part in the holding movement, but growers seem agreed that at least 60 cents a bushel for Proflite should be paid.

Many growers have not signed pledges but are in sympathy with the movement and are holding their crops. A few sales of Proflite at about 45 cents a bushel were reported the past few days.

The committee, which started the holding movement here September 26, when about 50 rice growers met and pledged 800,000 bushels, is composed of: Paul R. McCoy, president of the Peoples National bank; R. B. Curtis, president of the First State bank; R. B. Cawthron, secretary of the Rice Growers Credit Corporation; and W. W. Fuess, secretary of the Rice Land Credit Corporation.

With almost a third of the total Arkansas crop pledged, committee members said Monday that the movement has only begun, and that the entire rice area of the state will be canvassed.

O'Neal Promotes Seed Oats and Rye

Brick Manufacturer Raises Fall Grain Seed on His Model Farm

Seed for the planting of fall grains is a farm activity in which M. P. O'Neal, owner of Hope Brick Works, is especially interested this season.

Mr. O'Neal has on hand several hundred bushels of oats and rye, which has been tested by experts of the state department and found to have an unusually high germinating power.

The brick manufacturer, known throughout the county as a staunch advocate of better farming, is endeavoring to place this new seed over as wide an area as possible. Mr. O'Neal has been raising seed oats at his farm east of the brick works for several years.

His farm is one of the most interesting in the county, representing a model diversification program. Last year at the height of the drought Mr. O'Neal prepared for a heavy planting of hardy truck, and great patches of turnips which he planted in August and September brought a bountiful yield before Christmas, the turnips being distributed to his plant employees and their families.

WILLIAM BRANCHER

David and Goliath
GOLIATH, as represented in the person of Shanty Hogan, catcher of the New York Giants, was battling his playmates into their beds the other night in no uncertain way. His technique, I am told, was inspired by inhalations of the same sort of ginger ale Art Shuster used to go for in a big way. They were maimed, I am told by Pullman Operative X-742, most of his mates were docile about it, crawling into the hay without a battle.

Then came David of the hard eye, personified in the diminutive frame of Coach Bancroft. David merely pined his eye upon Goliath and said, "Gitt!" Mr. Hogan thereupon retired.

"He couldn't make that big bloke jump into the hammock if he wanted to," related Pullman Operative X-742. "Old Shanty just folded and snuck."

The next day the newspapers carried a small tale about Goliath being suspended and financially set back by the Giant management.

Nice Word, Anyway

MAX SCHEMELING, to be sure, is a world champion, but that's nothing. Promoter James J. Johnston of the Shanty-Carnegie thing billed the battle as "for the international heavyweight championship." He might have added "international," but maybe he didn't think of that.

Arkansas Listens

THE state of Arkansas in general, and community of Greenbrier in particular, will be all ears when the world series begins. For there is very likely to be a pretty fair country ball player from Greenbrier at shortstop for the Athletics. He'll be called Willie. In a recent double-header with the Indians, the A's made eight double plays, and old Dip was right there, heads up, in seven of 'em. He's going to be a better ball player than Boley ever was.

Heston Obliges

A PHOTOGRAPHER asked Willie Heston, Sr., to pose with his sons, Willie and Jack, who are on the University of Michigan squad this year. He suggested that the old man hold the ball, but the old man said he never had played football much and didn't know just how to hold it. "Okay," said the shutter guy, "then we'll dispense with the ball." Whereupon Heston the elder informed the photographer that he had been All-America choice only for three years. And did the s. g.'s face get red?

Another Nifty

HERE'S another one about a photographer who asked Double Yell Stribling to pose with an obscure lady flyer during the National Air Races in Cleveland. Double Yell demurred, saying, "Aw, she ain't so hot." To which the shutter guy chirped, "Well, Strib, you ain't so hot yourself."

in order that the receivers of those banks may pay some dividends to their depositors in advance of what would otherwise be the case pending liquidation.

Asks Bankers' Assistance
In order that the above program of unification and solidarity of action may be carried out and that all parts of the country be enlisted, I request the governors of the Federal Reserve banks in each district to secure the appointment of working committees of bankers for each reserve district to cooperate with the New York group and in carrying out their activities which I have mentioned.

tioned.

"4. I shall propose to the Congress that the eligibility of provisions of the federal reserve act should be broadened in order to give greater liquidity to the assets of the banks, and thus a greater assurance to the bankers in the granting of credits by enabling them to obtain legitimate accommodation on sound security in times of stress. Such measures are already under consideration by the Senate committee upon currency and banking."

Furthermore, if necessity requires, I will recommend the creation of a finance corporation similar in character and purpose to the War Finance Corporation, with available funds sufficient for any legitimate call in support of credit.

"6. I shall recommend to Congress the subscription of further capital stock by the government to the federal land banks (as was done at their founding) to strengthen their resources so that on the one hand the farmer may be assured of such accommodation as he may require and on the other hand their credit may be of such high character that they may obtain their funds at low rates of interest."

"7. I have submitted the above mentioned proposals which require legislation to the members of Congress whose attendance I was able to secure on short notice at this evening's meeting—being largely the members of committees particularly concerned—and they approve of them in principle."

To Discuss Inter-Government Debts
8. Premier Laval of France is visiting the United States. It is my purpose to discuss with him the question of such further arrangements as are imperative during the period of the depression in respect to inter-governmental debts. The policy of the American government in this matter is well known and was set out in a public statement on June 20 in announcing the American proposal for a year's postponement of debt payments.

"9. The times call for unity of action on the part of our people. We have met with great difficulties not of our own making. It requires determination to overcome these difficulties and above all to restore and maintain confidence. Our people owe it not only to themselves and in their own interest, but they can, by such an example of stability and purpose give hope and confidence in our own country and to the rest of the world."

Jury Is Selected for Tennessee Death Case

CAMDEN, Tenn.—(P)—Eleven farmers, and one school teacher were selected Tuesday to try Cardell Good and Ben Cassidy, truck drivers accused of slaying Mrs. Mary Royer Cobb, 22, Decatur, Ala., mother of two children.

Attorney General John M. Drane said the state would attempt to show the defendants killed Mrs. Cobb on a highway near Camden last June and concealed her badly mutilated body in a clump of bushes near McEwen, Tenn., more than 30 miles up the road. He said the trial would get under way Wednesday.

Mrs. Cobb's body was found about 24 hours after her death, the skull was crushed and there were wounds in the abdomen and a knife wound in the thigh.

The defendants, who say they agreed to take Mrs. Cobb in their truck from Memphis to Nashville, inist that Mrs. Cobb jumped out of their truck near Camden and was run over and killed. They add that, terror-stricken, they hid her body.

Co-operative Home for Students Is Proposed

FAYETTEVILLE—(P)—Plans for a co-operative home for 20 students of the University of Arkansas college of agriculture, estimated to cost from $12.50 to $16 a month, were announced Tuesday by a student labor committee which is sponsoring the project.

Theron Creigher of Alma, chairman of the committee, said 17 women students already had signed to live at the home, which will be opened when 20 enroll. Plans will be completed Monday.

The students in the home will do all the work, and the matron, a mother of one of the students, will serve without pay other than her own and her daughter's living expenses.

They sat down. The train bore down upon them. They leaned. Sherman was a split second slow in getting away and he won. But in so doing, he lost a foot, severed by the locomotive.

And, come to think of it, Sherman said, neither man had staked anything on the outcome.

Missouri Farmer Found Murdered

Body Contained Pistol and Shotgun Wounds Officers Say

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo.—Trouble over hogs running at large and destroying farm property of Henry Friensdorff, aged 65, farmer living across the St. Francis river in Stoddard county, was believed Tuesday to be responsible for his murder. The body was found Monday night.

Connie Bowman, 33, a neighbor and resident of this county, was held in jail at Bloomfield for murder. He was arrested after officers learned of trouble between him and Friensdorff. Authorities say they believe he was murdered last Friday following the difficulty with Bowman. Friensdorff's estranged wife and two brothers, at Defiance, O., have been notified.

The murdered man owned considerable property in southeast Missouri, and at one time was considered wealthy. The body had both pistol and shotgun wounds, and the right arm had been severed, apparently with a corn knife.

Marie Saline Bridge Over Ouachita River

Pictured above is the new bridge over the Ouachita River at Marie Saline Landing, 38-miles Southeast of El Dorado. The bridge links South and Southwest Arkansas which have been separated by the river. Cost of the bridge and the dump through the lowlands, the longest for any bridge in the state highway system, totaled more than three quarters of a million dollars. The bridge will be opened formally Wednesday, October 7 in a celebration in connection with the Union County Fair at El Dorado.

EL DORADO.—South Arkansas' second large highway bridge across the Ouachita river, now completed and open to traffic at Marie Saline Landing, 38 miles southeast of El Dorado will be opened formally in a celebration Wednesday, October 7 in connection with the Union County Fair at El Dorado.

The feature event of the celebration will be a pageant "Prosperity" to be presented by students of the El Dorado Junior College at the fair grounds Wednesday night. State officials have been invited to attend the celebration and prominent Arkansians will be on the speaking program.

Thousands of visitors are expected to come over the new bridge and the one at Calion, completed and opened to traffic last March. State highway officials have agreed to allow free passage of the two toll spans, and after car is expected to head toward El Dorado from Southeast Arkansas.

South and Southeast Arkansas have been divided by the waters of the Ouachita for years, ferry boats being the only mode of crossing the river, and in recent years these have been taken out of operation.

The Calion bridge formed the first link in the joining of the two sections of the state and the new Marie Saline Landing bridge completes the merger. The latter span is on a trans-continental highway which is reputed to be the shortest route between coasts. The highway is known as No. Two in crossing Arkansas and efforts are now being made to have it designated as a federal highway.

As an important link in the South Arkansas highway system, the Marie Saline bridge was erected at a cost of $356,524.38. Added to that was the cost of the dump and approaches, the longest for any bridge in state highway system, amounting to more than $500,000.

The bridge was opened to traffic several weeks ago and the last work of laying gravel between Strong and Crossett is now under way. Highway officials have agreed to have the road in good condition in time for the celebration here.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS

OUTFIELD TAKE AL SIMMONS out of the Athletics' outfield and the Cardinals would seem to have the better of it. With Simmons playing his usual great game in the world series, the A's have the best outfield in baseball. Simmons is probably the day's greatest player and is at his best with the annual fall purse at stake. If Mule Haas can man his regular berth in centerfield, the Athletics will be well fortified there also, but if injuries keep him out, Mack will have to rely on either Roger Cramer or Jim Moore. Both are youngsters and have not exactly set the league afire this summer. Bing Miller, always dependable, will be in right. The Cards have more balance in their outer works with Hafey leading in both offense and defense. Pepper Martin, a youngster who has had a fine year, will be in center. This is his first world series as a regular. George Watkins and Wally Roettger can play right field well, while Orsatti and Ray Blades will fit in anywhere in the outfield when needed. Three of the Cards' outfielders bat right-handed, the other three swing from the left side. That should furnish enough balance to make trouble for Grove and Earnshaw.

THEY'RE Milder. The best Turkish and Domestic tobacco that money can buy is put into Chesterfield. Chesterfield tobacco is the finest-textured, the smoothest and ripest that grows—ripened and sweetened in the sunshine, cured right by the farmer and aged right for two years in wooden hogsheads. Mellow—and wonderfully mild!

THEY TASTE BETTER. These mild, smooth tobaccos are put together exactly right. The aroma of Turkish, the mellow sweetness of Domestic—blended and cross-blended. How it's done is Chesterfield's secret—but millions know how much better it tastes!

THEY'RE PURE. Everything that goes into Chesterfield is tested by expert chemists. The purest, finest cigarette paper made; a clean, tight-sealed package. "Pure as the water you drink."

THEY SATISFY. The package... neat, clean. The cigarettes... well-filled. The paper... pure white. And with your very first puff, you notice they taste better. Pleasing and satisfying—Chesterfields just seem to suit you, right down to the ground.

Four hits—four good things about every Chesterfield cigarette. Remember: They Milder—Taste Better—Pure—Satisfy.

GOOD... they've got to be good
